“It's remarkable that the summit manages to bring so many experts, so many companies, so many institutions from the whole world. Not only from Asia, but I can see a very strong presence from Europe including my country.”

JERZY KWIECIŃSKI
Minister, Investment and Economic Development, Poland

“[A] goal of my visit here is not only learning, but also making friends. It is very important that we make friends, not only from the angle of this conference, but also from the angle of geopolitical circumstances in the world. Mayors can continue to build peace in the world. We can also help each other in building peace and security in the world.”

AHMED ABOUTALEB
Mayor, Rotterdam

“I think it is an [advanced] step [to] invite mayors around the world to get together here in Singapore. We can learn from one another, share experience among mayors and [also] share best practices with other cities.”

H.E. DR. TRI RISMAHARINI
Mayor, Surabaya

“ The WCS is actually showing it is important to bring all stakeholders together. The city cannot solve [problems] by itself. There are tremendous challenges, and we all have to work together on this. ”

JENNY BOFINGER-SCHUSTER

“ I think [the] Palava today is a lot because of what we've learnt in the WCS over the last four years. The WCS is a constant source of innovation, learning and of course networking with some of these smartest minds in city development across the world. ”

SHAISHAV DHARIA

“ I think WCS is a very well-executed summit. I see it as a melting pot for ideas and discussion amongst various spectrum of experts. I'm very confident that through such a WCS platform, the only outcome will be more interesting ideas and projects that can be brought to bear in the time to come. ”
